

"Search for gamma-ray bursts at photon energies  $E > 10$  GeV."

V.V.Alexeenko, A.B.Chernyaev, N.S.Khaerdinov,
V.B.Petkov, V.Ya.Poddubny
Institute for Nuclear Research, Russian Academy of Sciences, 60th October Anniversary Prospect, 7a, 117312 Moscow, Russia

The "Andyrchy" extensive air shower array has been operating since 1996 in the search for gamma-ray bursts at primary energies  $> 10$  GeV. The study is performed by searching for short transients in the cosmic-ray intensity in the single particle counting rates at mountain altitude (2100 m above sea level). We discuss the method and the results obtained both in sky survey and in correlation with BATSE events.